In this morning's "Small Business COVID-19 Revenue Opportunities" webinar, our two panelists discussed access to capital and strategies to ensure a good chance at funding following the federal government's enactment of a new $480 billion COVID-19 relief package.

Addressing both California and federal options were Isabela Guzman, director of Gov. Newsom's Office of the Small Business Advocate; and Mike Daniel, regional director of the Orange County Inland Empire Small Business Development Center.

Hud Englehart, a CNPA consultant, was the moderator for this precise, factual primer. Please click to view the recording.
